To Whom It May Concern:

It is my hope that the Department of Justice will reconsider the decision to settle the Microsoft antitrust lawsuit and follow the lead of the nine state attorneys general who have rejected the decision to let Microsoft off with a slap on the wrist. I am proud that my state's Attorney General, Tom Miller, rejected this Microsoft agreement. I believe that he and the other eight state attorneys general recognize the many problems with this agreement.

The decision to prematurely end litigation against Microsoft is a real error in judgment. A real opportunity exists for the Department of Justice to take a stand and protect our free market society and its consumers. Further litigation could effect real change. Please continue to pursue Microsoft.

Sincerely,

Scott Brennan
